A S C Reminds Milam Farmers Of May Deadline

Feed grain farmers are reminded that May 31, 1961 is the closing date for filing intention to participate in the 1961 feed grain program as 685 applications were signed for advance payment and approximately 800 applications for participation in the feed grain program.

Officials urge a last minute rush and we urge the farmers to come in early for two reasons," says Alva Sanders, Milam County ASC office manager, "first, to avoid having to wait in line for a long period of time and second to give themselves plenty of time to secure additional data or signatures that might be necessary in order for the application to be complete."

It is pointed out that signing the feed grain report was not an application for payment or intention to participate. The application is a separate form and must be signed in addition to the feed grain report. In other words, if a feed grain farmer has not signed anything in the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office since, April 25, 1961, the first day that applications were signed, then he should come by the office without further delay and sign his intention to participate if he intends to do so.

Through May 9, 1961 the final date for filing application for review of acreage by the county committee, 1000 appeals were acted on by the committee.

Just as in the case of acreage reports, appeals signed by the farmers did not constitute an intention to participate. Those who signed appeals and are of the opinion that his is their intention to participate should also come by the ASC office to sign the proper form for participation if he intends to participate.

3 City Concerns Now Remodeling

Remodeling and Construction work took on new zest in Cameron this week as two stores and Milam Theatre were getting new fronts.

Bob Scott, formerly of Ennis, new owner of the Milam and 77 Drive - In Theatres, has erected a new front on the downtown Milam Theatre and has repainted the lobby and interior of the theatre.

He also plans to install new seating in the theatre auditorium and redecorate its interior walls. Scott 24, is the son of a theatre operator in Ennis.

The Cameron variety stores also will install new fixtures throughout the store and has already installed air conditioning. Matula Construction Co. is doing the remodeling project.

Ray Burke, owner of Burke's

Variety Store, has begun remodeling the front of his variety store. He said an aluminum front above the awning will replace glass windows and the red metal work atop the building.

Burke also said that he was replacing the glass area in the front of his store with celotex construction to improve the interior appearance of the store.

Voting Begins At 7 In Milam

The Special Senatorial election expected by some observers to draw a light vote -- will get underway across Texas and Milam County 7 a. m. Saturday.

Election officials said that voting will be conducted at 38 Milam precincts -- Rockdale, 2, and Cameron, 2 -- as in a general election. Polls will close at 7 p. m. Saturday.

Both Interim Senator William Blakley, who carried the April 4 Milam vote 622 over Cong. Jim Wright's 447, and Republican John Tower were campaigning in key areas of Texas. Tower, the only Republican on the 65-place April ballot, garnered 372 Milam votes to run fourth behind Blakley, Wright and Will Wilson who drew 381 votes. But Tower led the field in Texas with 325,000 votes followed by Blakley with about 190,000.

Voting will be conducted at 38 traditional precinct voting places: Cameron (Milam Courthouse and YHS Gymnasium), Salem, Ad Hall Elm Ridge, Maysfield, Jones Prairie, Baileyville, Branchville, Clarkson, Milano, Gause, Hanover, Marlow, Rockdale (No. 15 and 16), Rice School, Minerva, Gay Hill, Sand Grove, Sandy Creek, Bushdale, Davilla, Tracy, Sharp, San Gabriel Crush, Buckholts, Burlington, Ben Arnold, Walkers Creek, Marak Yarellton, Salty, Conley, Watson Branch, Thorndale and Friendship.

Earlier this week Blakley, 61, was in Houston, emphasizing his experience and know how in politics and business, and challenging Republicans with "wanting the Democrats to send a Republican to the Senate."

Meanwhile, Tower, 35 - year - old political science professor, in Victoria said that Blakley's only campaign theme is "to get everybody to vote Democratic."

Winner of the Saturday election will continue the six - year term of Texas U. S. Senator now being filled by Sen. Blakley.

Votes will be counted Saturday night in the County Clerk's office at Milam Courthouse as the precincts report their returns, officials said.

In the April 4 election, a total of 2,193 votes were cast by Milam voters. About 3,400 Countians have registered for poll taxes.

Kenya Ag Leader Visiting Cameron

An assistant agriculture officer from Kenya, East Africa, finds agriculture development in Milam County and Texas an impressive achievement he hopes will be duplicated in his native land.

Clement K. Gachie, 44 is visiting Cameron and Milam County through the auspices of the International Co - operation Administration. He is touring Milam farm facilities with Negro County Agent E. K. Shaw.

A veteran of 21 years in Kenya agriculture work, Gachie is impressed with the mechanization of agriculture in Texas and the high production record of U. S. farmers.

In his land of Kenya (225,000 square miles: 6.5 million people) a staple crop is corn. But, he pointed out, it is necessary to import from the U. S. corn to feed his people. One of Kenya's hopes is to achieve enough mechanization to produce enough of its own basic food stuffs.

Visiting Cameron and the United States for the first time, Gachie will spend two weeks here, return to Kenya for a three-week Extension course and revisit Cameron for another two weeks.

He is studying agriculture youth work, soil conservation, dairying and management and feeding of beef cattle, Gachie noted.

Besides corn, Kenya farmers grow grain, wheat and raise dairy cattle. Gachie pointed out that Kenya's tropical climate afforded excellent growth for tea and coffee, but these crops were raised primarily on 20-acre farms, not on large plantations as in South America and Asia.

Gachie speaks English well, it being the official language of the British Colony. The native language is Swahili.

Near the equator, Kenya has two seasons, determined by the length of rains, Gachie said. Summer is in December, January and February with temperatures from 55-65 and winter is the opposite to the American time.

Gachie is from an area near Nairobi, a major Kenya city. He flew from Nairobi International Airport (where Belgain Nationals escaped from Congo uprisings last year) to London and then to New York.

Gachie is anxious to speak to groups wishing to learn more about Kenya, he said. He may be contacted through Shaw's office, Thursday, May 25, at 10:30 a. m.

For 20 years the Treasury Department sold bonds as a doorway to opportunity—a new home, college education, retirement, or some other dream of the future. But today the future itself threatened. With the dawn of the missile age, the world is suddenly aware that one more war could be the last. The hope of the age is for peace—for some guarantee that there will be a future to look forward to. Siebman concluded.

Fishermen Pay Fines For No Licenses

AUSTIN — Too many fishermen still try to get by without buying a $2.15 fishing license. As a result, they wind up in court with fines and costs. During April, 138 of the 232 arrests by game wardens were for failure to have a fishing license.

There were also numerous hunting violations, including mostly shooting of game out of season. One man was arrested for dynamiting fish. Four were picked up for using a motor while intoxicated.

Capt. Sprott also called attention to the requirement of having a life preserver for each occupant of a boat while on the water. This safety factor frequently is overlooked.

THESE TRUTHS WE MUST HOLD

IS THE STATE GREATER THAN GOD?

Americans believe: Men are children of God. Their rights come from and their first allegiance is to Him. Government should be administered in full recognition of God's love and His commandments. Governments that deny people the right to carry out their religious intentions are abominations. Through the ages people have sacrificed endlessly to free themselves from this bondage.

Communists believe: The idea of God and Heaven is but an opiate for exploited masses. Only the state deserves glory and men exist only for its welfare. The individual is meaningless. It is the function of government commissars and bureaucrats to repress individualism and to channel all human effort toward their self-appointed goals.

ETERNAL VIGILANCE IS THE PRICE OF LIBERTY

To renew and awaken interest in our precious heritage of Freedom, and its superiority over the Communist philosophy, these messages are being published by the Texas Power & Light Company, an investor-owned, tax-paying electric utility.

Report From The Confederacy

Richmond Confederate Capitol; Defense Planned

By Robert Stonedale

RICHMOND, Virginia, May 21, 1961. North Carolina voted yesterday to secede from the Union and to add the power of its valiant people to the cause of Southern Independence. Governor John W. Ellis has offered three regi-

The Confederate Congress assembled in Richmond yesterday morning. With the arrival of President Davis next week, the transfer of the Government from Alabama will be complete. These events have combined to establish the strategic consideration which, in general, may be expected to govern Confederate military operations during the next few dangerous months.

Superior Armament

To carry out Abraham Lincoln's announced purpose of subjugating the South, the North's immensely superior armament must be concentrated against Virginia, or in the West in the Missouri - Arkansas border. Recent disorders in Missouri culminated in the slaughter of 28 Southern sympathizers by Union troops at Saint Louis and plunged that State into internecine strife. Governor Claiborne Jackson has mustered the State Troops against the Federals and these have taken the field under Missouri General Sterling Price. It is doubtful to undertake offensive operations in that theatre. Virginia provides many more likely opportunities for the Federals since it is open to invasion on three fronts. In northern Virginia, the uncluttered county west of the Potomac river offers an inviting prospect to the Federals army now building near Washington. Two important railroad lines traverse the area, and a rapid thrust could cut these and break Confederate communications between Richmond and the force now occupying Harper's Ferry.

The Harper's Ferry force is itself facing both strategic and tactical problems. Superior Federal forces from Pennsylvania can thrust south across Maryland without hindrance. The town is dominated by Maryland Heights on the north side of the Potomac and if the Federals seize the dominating hills their long range artillery can make the Confederate position untenable.

As if these two considerations are not problems enough, the mountainous western Virginia area offers still another opportunity for Northern invasion. An advance on the part of the Northern troops now congregating near the Ohio River could undoubtedly pick up support from the disaffected anti-secessionist portions of the population. If it should reach the vitally important Shenandoah valley region, it could have dangerous consequences.

Finally, and perhaps most threatening, the Peninsula district southwest of Richmond forms an avenue of advance that exposes the capitol to early attack. The Federals hold Fortress Monroe at the tip of the Peninsula and their command for the sea will enable them to land large forces there at will. In addition, the James River leads directly to Richmond and exposes the city to bombardment by Union gunboats.

Faced with these problems the War Department is dispatching troops to the Alexandria district and to Harper's Ferry as rapidly as possible while a small force on the Peninsula is keeping watch on Fortress Monroe. A few local militia companies are the only Confederate forces operating as yet in western Virginia.

A race is in progress to determine if the Federals can complete their invasion preparations before the Confederacy can train and equip enough troops to oppose them. The shift of the frontier to the Virginia border has burdened the government with tremendous problems of transport and strategy.

Defense Planned

While press and public clamor for an advance on Washington, the authorities state they will be satisfied if they can protect Virginia's vital reservoirs of manpower and industry.

The Government's concern with defensive plans does not signify any lack of warlike resolve. Speaking in Atlanta yesterday Vice-President Alexander Stephens described Southern resolution in flaming words.

"We fight for our homes, our fathers and mothers, wives, sisters and children," cried the former moderate who was opposed to Secession until last February. "We will call out a million people if need be, and when they are cut down, we will call out another and still another, until the last man of the South finds a bloody grave!"

Kentucky neutrality shields central South.

ments of State Militia for immediate service in Virginia with more to follow. At the same time the Kentucky legislature proclaimed strict neutrality and has denied access to its territory by the armed forces of either the North or South. Although her wealth and power would have been most welcome to the South, the proclamation closes one avenue of invasion to the North and simplifies the defense of the South however. Large numbers of Kentucky citizens are still journeying to Camp Boone, Tennessee, to enroll for the defense of the South however.

CONGRATULATIONS TO THE SENIOR CLASS OF 1961

I wish to take this opportunity to extend congratulations and best wishes to the Senior Class of Yoe High School.

You have studied many hours and worked hard to earn your diplomas, and you have every reason to be proud of your achievement. There are many opportunities awaiting you, and you have a great future ahead of you. We are indeed fortunate to live in the best country in the world where opportunities are unlimited. I urge you to take advantage of these opportunities.

Some of you will continue your education and others will go out into the business world but whatever vocation you choose, I wish you much happiness and success.

Have fun and enjoy your vocation. If you are planning a trip may I suggest that you keep in touch with the folks back home by calling them long distance. Rates are lower after 6:00 P.M. and your call will go through twice as fast if you call by number.

TELEPHONES OF THE FUTURE

The other day I was having lunch with some friends and we got to talking about how much the telephone has changed in the last few years. We talked about the development of color phones, wall phones and the latest one -- The Princess -- the first compact phone.

This conversation reminded me of some of the ideas for new kinds of telephones and communications services we're working on now. Some of these ideas will never leave the drawing board. Others will fall by the wayside during the test stage. And some, of course, will be successful -- and will eventually be available for your use.

For instance, how would you like a phone with the dial right in the receiver. This phone is called the Dial-in-Hand phone because it has everything you need to make a call right in the receiver, and it can be held in one hand. The dial lights up when you lift the receiver, but nobody can see it when you're not using the phone.

Or, how about a Picturephone. This phone sends along a picture for the caller as well as his voice. It means that people will be able to see each other as they talk on the phone. While the Picturephone has already been successfully tested, it will be quite a while before it is available to the public.

But here's a new phone you may have in the not too distant future. It's a small new wall phone called the Slimphone. The Slimphone is trim, not much wider than a Princess phone. It should come in handy for the kitchen and other rooms because it doesn't take up much space.

These are just a few -- a sampling -- of new kinds of telephones and telephone service we're working on for the future. But even today we enjoy telephone services most of us never dreamed possible just 10 years ago.

Vote Your Choice Saturday . . .

Saturday, May 27, is a special election day in Texas for the selection of a U. S. Senator.

The importance of voting in an election is a singular prerogative of American people. A free choice at the ballot box is one of the freedoms at stake in the Cold War with the Communist conspiracy.

So often, Americans, you and I fail to cast our ballot for the candidate of our choice in any election. In runoff elections, this one between Interim Sen. William Blakley and Republican John Tower, there is often apathy at the polls.

The choice of U. S. Senator is a vital one, one that requires the full voice of the people if the selection is to be representative of Texans.

Since there has already been one special election from which two candidates have emerged, there is the strong possibility that we will let "George do it". And in the doing, the true will of the people may not be heard.

Whichever your choice in this special election, make that choice in the election Saturday.

Rural areas such as Milam County are usually strong in their response to an appeal to vote their convictions. This election will decide a U. S. Senator for almost six years.

We urge you to remember that Saturday, May 27, is a day to cast your ballot in the American tradition of the free vote. Your vote is important to your candidate!

Legislature Goes Into Final Stretch

By Vern Sanford

AUSTIN — Legislature goes into the final stretch of the regular session with the possibility of a photo finish.

Individual lawmakers alternated between hope and despair about the prospect of getting all-around agreement on a tax play by May 29. Many expressed fear of home district criticism if matters are allowed to drag through the summer, as happened in 1959.

In the final, chips - down stage, it looked like a Governor vs. Legislature battle. A majority of both houses has gone on record for tax plans which have a fairly general 2 per cent sales tax as the major revenue source. Gov. Price Daniel says, in effect, that he doesn't want to be hard to live with but he isn't about to back down on his 25-year anti-sales tax stand.

Senators re - worked the two major tax bills sent them by the House - the 2 per cent sales tax and the all - purpose "loophole bill" - into a combination package. In the package was a 2 per cent sales tax on items of 25 cents and more (with exemptions on food, drugs, etc.), an increase in the natural gas production tax from 7 per cent to 8 per cent and a hike in the corporate franchise tax. They also jacked up the driver's license fee from $2 to $3.

Senate sponsors estimate that it would raise $327,000,000 in the next two years.

Sen. A. M. Aikin Jr. of Paris

made an effort to get the senate to substitute a bill favored by the governor that would limit new general sales taxes to items costing $10 or more. It also would have levied selective taxes on motor tools and appliances, building materials, stock sales, restaurant meals, etc.

Senate turned down the governor's substitute, 17 to 14 then gave final passage to its own bill, 19-12.

Loan Bill Delayed

Tax matters delayed Senate progress on legislation to regulate the small loan industry.

A re - worked version of the loan bill passed by the House was prepared by a special subcommittee of the Senate State Affairs Committee. In general, the Senate subcommittee's bill appears to allow for higher charges on smaller loans and lower charges on larger loans. It sets up a schedule of "service charges" that are not to be considered interest.

Whatever the outcome, hopes for passing a loan bill that will satisfy interested groups are nil. If charges are low, the bill will be criticized for "putting loan companies out of business so poor people can't borrow money." If rates are high, it "legalizes the sharks."

Driver Law Tightened

House passed on second reading a bill that would put more pressure on drivers who do not carry liability insurance or have the means to pay for an accident.

Reps. Ben Lewis of Dallas and Robert Fairchild of Center, sponsors, pointed out that only about 60 per cent of Texas drivers carry insurance.

Among provisions of the proposed bill is one that would cause a driver to lose his license if convicted of two moving traffic violations within a year and he did not carry insurance.

I Give You Texas

By Boyce House

A mob was clamoring at the gate of a walled county jail. The sheriff cowered in the jailer's office, shades pulled down. Suddenly, the silence in the room was broken by the ringing of the telephone. "Don't answer that!" the sheriff said. He was completely unable to deal with the crisis so the chief of police went out and I went with him, just the two of us - (one really, because I didn't count) and he confronted the angry hundreds, persuaded them to send in a committee to see that the prisoner they sought was not there and, after the inspection had been completed, the mob dispersed.

Then there was the time that a street car conductor had been wounded seriously. He had returned the fire and either the assailant or his companion was shot. The two went in the darkness and he told me that he did not know which one had wounded him.

The man he had shot was taken to the hospital. A mob of 152 or more gathered on the grounds and a group went in and brought the suspect out on a cot. They had him under a tree and someone had a rope when four officers and a reporter arrived. "Just a minute, men!" I yelled. Then after repeating the statement of the wounded conductor, I said, "This may not be the one. If you take the life of an innocent man you will always be sorry." The men disisted and the wounded suspect was taken back to the hospital ward. Let us hasten to say that my action took no courage because Captain Mike Kehoe was there - and he was equal to a regiment.

I have made many speeches but they were planned ahead of time. Occasionally an idea comes, a joke materializes, a phrase occurs, while I'm on my feet but if I relied upon "the inspiration of the moment," there would be no speech.

Consequently I admire this facility in others. Years ago, a lawyer, Frank Judkins, lived in Eastland. He was an excellent speaker.

One night he was going to introduce a candidate and I asked him that afternoon what he was going to say. He replied that he hadn't the faintest idea, but he would just say what came to mind. (His speech was good, too.)

Sec. Of Ag. To Visit In Texas

By Cong. W. R. Pease

Saturday, June 17th, the Secretary of Agriculture, Hon. Orville L. Freeman, is coming to Central Texas. He will be the chief speaker at a Democratic fund - raising dinner in Waco at 7 o'clock that night. He will be the guest of the people of Temple at a luncheon at noon, where he will have an opportunity to see the facilities which Temple offers for a consolidation of the Southwestern activities of the Department of Agriculture. Both of these will be "ticket" affairs, but the public meeting, where the Secretary will make a major agricultural speech and to which every citizen is invited, will be held in Rosebud at 3 p. m. It may be a little hot and there isn't much shade at Rosebud, but this will be the first time in many years that a Secretary of Agriculture has spoken in Central Texas to a rural audience in a rural community. This will be a farmers' meeting and we want every farmer, as well as everyone who is interested in agriculture, to attend.

A large group of representatives of the Rural Electric Cooperatives from Texas were in Washington this week. Most of our people recognize the great good that the REA has done. Most of them know that Texas has made outstanding progress in its rural electric services but most of our people do not realize that many of our Texas systems are now grinding to a halt in their progress, whereas in most States they are moving on and developing ever - stronger service institutions.

The reason is that while the Federal law requires government loans to be used for service to people in rural areas (that is, in towns of less than 1500 population), it does not require the local cooperatives to move out as soon as the territory develops. I do not think this was the intention of the Texas law, but some years ago our courts held, in the Gilmer case, that even though a rural cooperative had been furnishing a rural area with power for many years, and even though it may have gone into the area when no one else would serve it, it had to get out and turn the business over to competitor whenever the area was sufficiently developed to be incorporated in a city or town.

Over the years this rule means that the REA financed cooperatives can spend money to develop a territory, but as soon as that development reaches profitable proportions they must move out and let some concern which may have originally refused to give any service to take over the now profitable operation.

LITTLE RIVER

Philosopher Breaks A Rule And Offers Advice To President Of United States

Dear editor:

I've never been interested in trying to tell the President of the United States how to operate things. I've got more than I'm interested in tackling out here on this Johnson grass farm and anyway, it's a lot easier to criticize yesterday than to prescribe for tomorrow, but I'm going to break my rule and offer some advice.

As I understand it, the President is going to meet in Europe with Premier Khrushchev so the two can sort of get acquainted and size each other up and discuss future relations of the two countries.

Unless the President has other business in Europe, I have a suggestion to make.

Why doesn't The Cameron Herald run a contest to pick the most unreliable man in the United States and let him sit in for Khrushchev and hold the summit meeting in this country? It'd save time and travel expense and we could hear all the lies in English.

Discussing the future with Khrushchev is like trying to draw up a contract with the weather.

I'd just as soon rely on my corns to tell me when a tornado's coming as to bank on what Khrushchev promises.

What we ought to do is find the most unreliable man in this country, let him sit in for Khrushchev, hold the meeting in Washington, solemnly report what he has to say, toast him with vodka and get to work on some accurate missiles. You know around here, after a reputation of breaking his promises, nobody sells to him on credit. Based on what Khrushchev has promised and what he has done, I'd say he couldn't even buy a second - hand tractor with steel wheels on time in Milam County.

Khrushchev makes a great pose of representing the great moral fibre of a dedicated nation burning with zeal for humanity, but that's mostly hogwash. He's a tough, smart shrewd character whose promises today have no relation to his deeds tomorrow. He proclaims his word is as good as his bond, but you've got to remember that's a Russian bond he's talking about.

Daily Supplements Not Necessary

COLLEGE STATION -- Increasing numbers of Texas dairymen are feeding expensive mineral-vitamin supplements because they have been advised this practice would improve milk production and general health of dairy cows.

A. M. Meekma, extension dairy specialist, points out that researchers at Cornell University, in four separate experiments, using a complex mineral-vitamin mixture similar in composition to many now being sold, failed to increase milk production, milk fat test, weight gain, feed intakes or digestibility.

CHALLENGE BE STRONG OR BE SPLIT

"The Communists will destroy capitalism"... "we will bury you" ... "your children will live in a Communist society."

Khrushchev speaks for Communism. He is deadly serious. Today Communism dominates one-third of mankind. Tomorrow it intends to dominate the rest. We are its chief obstacle. We are free. We are challenged because we are free.

Communism seeks to split us from our freedoms. Split us from the world. Split us among ourselves. Split our inner strength. That strength is your power as a free individual. What you think, what you do, how much you care—these decide. Not just the nation's future but your own.

Help decide that future. Read the new report of the President's Commission on National Goals, a guidebook for the critical years ahead. Make our national goals your personal goals. Know the challenges. Know how to meet them. Both President Eisenhower and President Kennedy urge you to think about and act upon this report, entitled "Goals for Americans." Hardcover or $1 paperback at your bookstore. Or send for a free digest now. Write: "Goals," Box 1776, New York 17, N. Y.

FREEDOM IS NOT A GIFT BUT A TASK.
